

Certified Contact
Center Supervisor

■ ■ ■ Introduction

Orion Learning's global service certification programs are ISO based conformity assessment programs utilizing the national occupational standards for customer service. Our certification programs deliver the necessary skills training for the certification candidate to be competent as a Contact Center Supervisor in any service or contact center environment.

■ ■ ■ Overview

This certification training program is designed for individuals seeking the accreditation of a Certified Contact Center Supervisor and is authorized by the International Service Standards Alliance (ISSA).

The program is a set of comprehensive training courses designed to provide you with necessary training to be certified as a Contact Center Supervisor and to prepare you for the responsibility of professionally interacting with people, processes and technology.

■ ■ ■ Designation

This certification program results in the granting of a Certified Contact Center Supervisor (CCCS®) designation upon successful completion of the training requirements.

■ ■ ■ Program Benefits

This certification training program is the only program in the world which offers:

- An ISO certification program
- Comprehensive training curriculum
- Global certification
- Global designation
- Public register of certification candidates and accredited members
- Personalized program certificate
- Membership with ISSA
- Opportunity for career path planning

■ ■ ■ National Occupational Standards

The National Occupational Standard (NOS) defines the knowledge, skills and abilities a person must have to perform the job at a competent level. The NOS are developed, reviewed and approved by government and industry committees with representation from government, industry, educational professionals. The NOS provide the basis for:

- Nationally standardized skill sets
- Training, curriculum development and certification programs
- Clearly defined career information
- Industry-wide human resource strategies and solutions
- Improved productivity including customer service, increased profitability and job satisfaction

Industries, on the whole, benefit from standards by providing a clear definition of what service employees do and how they perform their job tasks to a more credible and professional image.
